SeaForce

Efficient fouling protection

Turtles – one of nature's examples of efficient passage through water – exhibiting tough, smooth protection – all the advantages of the SeaForce range.

Meeting the challenges of a changing market

The SeaForce range has built an enviable reputation as a world proven assortment of quality antifoulings designed to provide efficient fouling protection whatever the vessel and its trading pattern.

Developed in Jotun's world leading R&D facility, the SeaForce range is under constant review and development to ensure it meets our customers needs.

Challenging market conditions have created a demand for antifoulings that provide efficient drydocking performance at slower speed and for long idle periods.

Jotun has addressed these challenges further with the introduction of SeaForce 30 M and SeaForce 60 M – providing greater operational flexibility at a lower cost. Due to the increased volume solids, less paint will be used in the dock. That means quicker paint application, more efficient drydocking and faster return to service.

Therefore, whatever the vessel and its trading pattern, the improved and expanded SeaForce range maintains its position as a leading source of efficient fouling protection for today's market conditions.
